

Artist & Organisational Collaboration Request Form

INTRODUCTION

SEED the Art Space Ltd is a non-profit organisation that aims to support or collaborate with artists and art groups, who are open to take risks in conceptualization and practices, specifically through exhibition, residencies, mentorships, arts management, advisories, and curation etc. At the same time, SEED is committed to engage new audiences for contemporary art anchored in the discourses of regional art history.

WHAT WE DO – SEEDing....
New Ideas (Residency)	New Partnerships (Collaboration)	New Audiences (Art pop-ups)	Dialogues (Discourse generation)
SEED supports artists or art groups at different stages of their career through residencies, public dialogues, collaborative projects, or mentorships to expand their practices, and to experiment with processes unique to their repertoires. Through these projects, SEED hopes to rediscover experienced artists in the region, and create a regional archive for emerging and established artists experimenting with new artistic discourses.	SEED hopes to expand the limits to how art is displayed or communicated, and seek potential collaboration with arts groups, businesses, or creative spaces to redefine exhibition making.	SEED hopes to reach new audiences in addition to existing audience networks. New audiences could include partnerships with organisations whose clients are not regular art event attendees. We also hope to bridge the gap between artists and their audiences through workshops, talks and open studio sessions.	SEED also aims to mark the discourses through forums, talks, publications and research for archival purposes.

SEED invites artists, art groups or communities who are interested to collaborate with us to contact us using the form below.
